Banim Street

London Borough of Hammersmith, London W6

A sensitive infill development of 3 houses, and 3 apartments and a small commercial unit in the Bradmor Conservation Area within the London Borough of Hammersmith.

The surrounding area is generally characterised by two and three storey Victorian terraces punctuated at ends of terraces or on corners. Our design concept reflects this in completing the existing adjoining terrace along the street. Materials and detailing were again a reflection of the Victorian palette of nearby buildings.

Our scheme was successful in obtaining planning consent and has proved popular with nearby residents as well as potential purchasers. As a result of its quality, the project won a Hammersmith Society Environment Award, the Nancye Goulden Award, in 2015.

Client: Adrien Labi, European Premier Properties Ltd

Contractor: Eramo Developments Ltd

Photography: Jefferson Smith

©2013-2024 Haines Phillips Architects

©2013-2024 Haines Phillips Architects

©2013-2024 Haines Phillips Architects

©2013-2024 Haines Phillips Architects