The development is located in Woodstock, Oxfordshire.

The winner of an RIBA Housing Award this crafted development of retirement cottages and apartments at Woodstock sits comfortably within Upper Brook Hill with spectacular views out across the Glyme valley.

The apartment block addresses the streetscape of the town whilst the smaller cottages reflect the reduction in scale to the periphery.

The bulk of the development has been executed in stone and considerable care was expended on the detailing. The scheme blends well within the existing fabric of the Conservation Area and has won considerable acclaim with both local and national design awards.
