

Transformation of Victorian Family Home, Crouch End

London Borough of Haringey, N8

This project is for the transformation of a large Victorian family home in Crouch End, north London.

Our proposals include a large rear extension with extensive areas of structural glazing that will create a dramatic, light filled new kitchen and dining area.

We are also designing extensive internal alterations to the living and bedroom areas, including zinc clad dormer extensions to the rear roof slope and closet wing.

We are working closely with the clients on all aspects of the design, including of internal fixtures, fittings and finishes.
